

LAWYER

Plaxton Jensen has an opening for one lawyer to practice in the areas of labour and employment law. A lawyer in this position will litigate on behalf of unions and employees before arbitrations, workplace tribunals and courts, and will advise clients on labour, employment and human rights matters. There may be opportunities to continue practice or develop a practice complementary to union-side labour law, including criminal law, family law, wills, professional regulation or civil litigation.

Plaxton Jensen is a Saskatoon-based boutique labour and employment law firm. We represent clients throughout Saskatchewan, and occasionally have opportunities to practice in other provinces.

We are looking for a lawyer with good practical judgment, experience working with clients from diverse backgrounds, the ability to think creatively and critically, and dedication to socially progressive principles. Ideally, we are seeking to hire someone with between two and eight years' litigation experience.

If you are interested in using your legal skills to make a difference in the lives of others, please send your resume and a letter explaining why you want to work with us to the attention of Heather Jensen. Applications will begin to be considered after October 10, 2018. All applications and inquiries will be kept confidential.
