

City Solicitor / General Counsel

Edmonton is a vibrant, multicultural, and cosmopolitan city with a regional population of over 1.1 million. Growing faster than almost any other Canadian city, Edmonton is at the heart of Alberta's economic engine and is fueled by change. A $3 billion organization, the City of Edmonton delivers over 300 services and programs to nearly one million Edmontonians. The work of the City has a more profound impact than it ever has before in enabling a better life for Edmontonians.

Reporting to the City Manager, the City Solicitor / General Counsel actively participates in the development of strategies for the Corporation and implements action at the branch level to achieve Council's and Administration's vision and priorities. Analyzing complex situations and overseeing politically sensitive and reputational files, the City Solicitor / General Counsel acts as an advisor to Council and the Executive Leadership Team and manages a branch that works with colleagues throughout the corporation to provide strategic legal, risk management and security services.

With your LLB and more than 15 years of legal experience, you are known for providing strategic advice to executive leadership teams and thriving in dynamic, changing environments. You are known for your inspirational leadership style and change management expertise. Diplomacy and an ability to navigate through controversial and difficult discussions, often within the public eye, make you stand out amongst your peers. You understand the public sector and have built teams that collaborate, are well supported, and pride themselves on being a strategic business partner. Here is your opportunity to lead a team that is primed for innovation and modernization while serving the corporation with a citizen-centric approach.
