Dear Madam:

Re: Ashala Naidu-Biography
Nomination for Election of a New Lawyer Bencher

My name is Ashala Naidu, and I am a Barrister and Solicitor with Burrows Law in Saskatoon, Saskatchewan.

I was called to the Bar in August, 2015, and practice at Burrows Law. My practice areas include a heavy focus in family law, followed by real estate, wills and estates, and immigration law.

I attended Law School at Queen Mary, University of London in London, England. Following my legal studies, I successfully finished the NCA ("National Committee of Accreditation") process, in order to practice law in Canada. I was in CPLED in 2014/2015, and articled at Stooshinoff Bitzer under the principle supervision of Nicholas J. Stooshinoff.

My husband, Depesh Parmar, and myself, were born and raised in Saskatoon, and we are raising our family here in Saskatoon, which consists of our daughter, Ava (8), and our son, Dev (14 months).

I take great pride in the practice of law, and the Saskatchewan Bar Association. I am a member of the CBA and am on the executive with the Family Law North section. I am seeking office as a young bencher as I believe my excellent organizational skills, my eye for detail and learning, and my commitment to the Bar would make me a great asset as a young bencher. I am particularly keen on fostering a vibrant legal community right here in Saskatchewan, to ensure our bar is the best association in the country through governance, advocacy and education.

Yours truly,

BURROWS LAW
