

Barbara Mysko – Bio:

I was called to the Bar in Saskatchewan in 2007, after obtaining civil and common law degrees from McGill University. I worked at McDougall Gauley LLP and Legal Aid Saskatchewan for a total of three years, and then began working at the Ministry of Justice in 2009. While at the ministry, my practice has focused on civil and Charter litigation as well as human rights law. I am currently representing the Government of Saskatchewan in the National Inquiry into Missing and Murdered Indigenous Women and Girls.

I have been volunteering with Pro Bono Law since 2009, practicing immigration and refugee law, and have presented regularly on a broad range of topics at continuing professional development seminars within the ministry and at external conferences. Most recently, I began teaching conflict resolution at the University of Regina graduate business school.

My spare time is spent instructing fitness classes and renovating our home in White City.

Reasons for Seeking Election:

If I am elected as a benchler, I plan to:

- Focus on maintaining and enhancing the high standards of integrity, professionalism, and civility for which the Saskatchewan legal community is known.
- Help bridge the gap between the private and public legal communities in Saskatchewan and leverage our resources to serve Saskatchewan citizens.
- Build on existing measures to enhance access to justice and to maintain our professional relevance in an increasingly diverse province.
