APPLICANT'S QUESTIONNAIRE

To the Applicant:

Law societies regulate the legal profession in the public interest. One of the most important decisions that law societies make is who they license to practise law. The public interest requires that all applicants prove they are suitable to practise. Law societies assess the suitability of applicants in many ways, but the following factors are particularly relevant and important:

- I. Respect for the rule of law and administration of justice
- II. Honesty
- III. Governability
- IV. Financial responsibility

The questions in the following questionnaire are one of the primary ways in which law societies obtain the information necessary to assess an applicant's suitability. The questions that follow are arranged under headings based on the factors set out above. In general, all positive answers to the questions set out in the sample questionnaire will be investigated. A positive answer does not necessarily mean that the applicant will be refused reinstatement to the Law Society. Follow-up questions or further investigation may be pursued, and the applicant may, in certain circumstances, be entitled to a hearing into the issues raised by their answers.

In answering the questions, the applicant must disclose all material information relating to their application, including any matters that have occurred in Canada and elsewhere. Law societies regard failure to disclose material information as prima facie evidence of dishonest behaviour. If answering in the affirmative to any of the questions contained in the questionnaire, please provide full details on a separate sheet. All records or required information must be provided along with the application for admission or the application will be considered incomplete.
